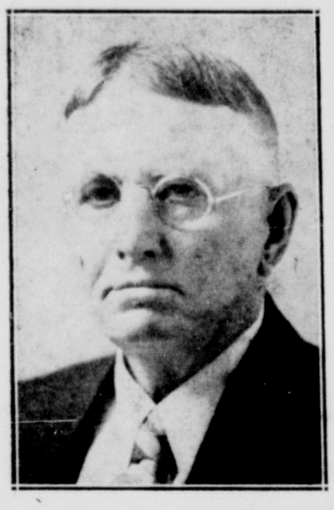
I. C. Jenkins Died Monday

Second Oldest Resident of County Dropped Dead at Farm While With His Son



ISAIAH C. JENKINS

Isaiah C. Jenkins dropped dead at his farm west of Canyon Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock when he started to open a gate for his son, Merle. He had been in poor health for several weeks, but was able to be about his regular work.

The funeral was held yesterday afternoor at 3 o'clock at the family home, conducted by Rev. C. C. Armstrong, pastor of the Methodist Church.

Interment followed in Dreamland Cemetery in charge of the Griggs-Thompson Funeral Home. Pall bearers were members of the family.

Mr. Jenkins had the distinction of being the second oldest citizen of Randall county. He came to the T-Anchor Ranch in 1885, and has made Randall county his home ever since.

He was born in Canada April 15, 1862, reaching the age of 80 years, 8 months and 13 days at his death. He came to Sherman, Texas, with his brother when just a boy, and then went on to California. There was a call for men to go to Panama, and Mr. Jenkins first decided to go, but instead returned to Sherman. Gunter and Munsen owned ranches at Sherman and on the Plains. Mr. Jenkins went to work for them, and chose to come to the T-Anchor, where he arrived at the old headquarters north of Canyon, in 1885. He worked as a cowpuncher on the ranch for 14 years, and told many thrilling experiences of the early days in Randall county.

Mr. Jenkins and Miss Mary McGehee were married in 1897. She had come to the Plains from Dallas county and taught school for several years.

After working for the T-Anchor for 14 years Mr. Jenkins decided to start stock farming, in which he continued to engage for the balance of his life.

Surviving are: the widow, Mrs. Mary Jenkins; two sons, M. I. Jenkins of Canyon and I. C. Jenkins of Houston; two brothers, Sam Jenkins of Windsor, Canada, and Lyman Jenkins of Whitewright, Texas.

Mrs. W. Holmes Smith returned Tuesday from Plainview where she spent the holidays at the home of her father.

Mr. and Mrs. E. J. King of Childress spent the holidays at the home of their daughter, Mrs. Robert P. Jarrett.

Red Cross Gets $372.48 Result of Scrap Drive

The Randall County Red Cross Chapter has received a check for $372.48 from the Consumers Fuel Association as a result of the Salvage Campaign which has been underway since August 15.

This amount represents the difference in the price paid for the old metal and rubber and the price for which the scrap was sold. Jeff Wallace, manager of Consumers, made the proposal to the Salvage Committee to buy this material and to turn over ot the Red Cross any profit which might be made on the sale. No expenses were taken out for the time used in handling the scrap. Consumers furnished the money necessary to handle this business without charge to the Salvage Committee.

From Aug. 15 to Nov. 30 a total of 398,361 pounds of scrap metal and rubber were handled. For this Consumers paid $1,527.01. The scrap sold for $1,899.49, or a profit of $372.48, which was turned over to the Red Cross.

The amount of metal and scrap included in the report does not cover the purchases since Nov. 30, or the amount of scrap which was bought directly by A. A. Kirkpatrick from the various farmers who have hauled this scrap to him.

Copies of the report of Mr. Wallace were filed with Judge A. H. Hunt, County Chairman of the Salvage Committee, with County Agent W. H. Upchurch and C. L. Thompson, as well as with the Red Cross.

T. V. Reeves, chairman of the Red Cross, states that this money will pay all expenses of the Red Cross Sewing Room up to the first of the year. He expressed great pleasure in receiving this money, which will be of great use to the chapter.

Cold Wave Hits Low Temperature For the Winter

The coldest wave of the year hit Canyon Saturday night, with the temperature dropping to 10 degrees above zero Monday morning.

A light snow fell here Sunday morning, but there was so much wind that the snow was of little value. The moisture measured only .10 of an inch in Canyon.

However, there was enough snow to block the country roads running east and west, and in many parts of the county some of the farmers are still snowbound.

Snow was the lightest in this vicinity of any part of the Panhandle. There was a heavy snow on the South Plains which blockaded highways and roads for several days.

Dr. Lloyd N. Smith at Ft. Sam Houston

Dr. Lloyd N. Smith is now at Fort Sam Houston with the Classification Section of the Third Army. A member of the West Texas State faculty last year, Dr. Smith was trained at Fort Washington, Md. He states his work is fascinating.

In the classification work, the army is attempting to fit the right man to the right job. Considering the large number of men in service, Dr. Smith feels that the army is doing a good job in classification.

Dr. and Mrs. John S. Humphreys returned Sunday from Nashville where they spent several weeks at the home of their daughter.

Citizens Urged Not Hoard Food

Ration Book No. 2 Will be Issued in the Near Future to Cover Nearly All Food

The nation was prepared for rationing of most kinds of foods Sunday night when government officials urged people not to hoard foods, or to make raids on the grocery stores. All foods on hand will be taken into account when the new ration books are issued.

T. S. Stevenson, clerk of the local board, has been receiving materials in preparation for the issuance of Ration Book No. 2. No announcement has been made as to when the second book will be issued, but it is presumed that its issuance will be in a few weeks, and that rationing will start early in February.

Very few instances of rushing to the grocers to stock up were reported throughout the nation.

Secretary of Agriculture Wickard made it clear that there would be plenty of food for everyone. But there are many kinds of food which are popular among the people that will be scarce in the future.

The supply of food must be carefully guarded in order to furnish our men in the armed services and those who are fighting for the United Nations.

The new book will contain 192 ration stamps, half of them blue, for use in rationing canned foods, and the other half red, to be used later for meats.

The total of 150,000,000 books will

More Boys Are Registered For Military Service

Twenty-one boys who became 18 years of age since July of this year have registered for military service with the Randall County Local Selective Service Board. The number is smaller than estimated since many of the 17 year old boys enlisted for military service before their time to register.

The Local Board will send questionnaires to these boys the first of next week and call them up for physical examination. They will then be subject for induction in the armed forces.

Starting January 1, 1943, all boys will register the day they become 18 years of age. If their birthday falls on Sunday or a legal holiday, they will register on the following day.

The following boys have registered this month:

Little Business Is In Sight As Winter Term of Court Will Open Monday

The January term of District Court will open next Monday.

There will be two new district officials on the job Monday with the opening of the new term.

Henry S. Bishop will succeed E. C. Nelson as district judge. Judge Bishop has served both as district attorney and district judge for many years, and has a record for long time service in the district courts of Texas.

James Lumpkin succeeds Robt. E. Underwood as district attorney. Mr. Lumpkin is well acquainted with this office, having served as assistant to Mr. Underwood for the past three terms.

There will be little business in this term of district court, according to Clerk A. B. Holt. Only a few cases have been filed since the last session. Sheriff M. E. Cantrell reports very little criminal business pending for the session.

New Pastor Is Called by the Presbyterians

Rev. Robert W. Jones of Harriman, Tenn., has accepted a call from the local Presbyterian Church to become pastor of the local church. Rev. Jones preached here recently and was well received by the local members as well as by the people of Canyon.

He will arrive in time to preach his first sermon on January 24.

Buffs Lost Title at Oklahoma City Through Injuries

Opening of their oft-delayed basketball season has found the Tall Texans of West Texas State struggling against difficulties which were not met by the great quintets of recent years.

A 45-42 loss to Texas Christian University is illustrative of the present status of the club. Its makeshift lineup is currently not equal to the best efforts of powerful clubs like that possessed this season by T. C. U. But, reason local fans, if the Buffs can play on almost equal terms now with Southwestern Conference teams, it will excell them by a good margin when the West Texas State roster is complete.

The present ineligibility of Ray Ellefson, 6 foot 9 inch center and the ankle injury suffered by Clark Johnson, 6 foot 4½ inch center, gave the club its worst blow. Then Ledru Jacobs, top scoring forward, went out with a leg injury just before the T. C. U. game.

Return of Ellefson, Johnson, and Jacobs to the starting lineup will give the Tall Texans a power comparable to that shown at this time last season. In the meantime, an occasional small-margin loss may do the 1942-43 club no harm. For the team needs stiff competition to bring out its potentialities. The loss through graduation of Price Brookfield, Frank Stockman, and Charlie Halbert cannot be quickly repaired.

Coach Gus Miller, unaccustomed to cage losses, is comforted by the thought that he has a good club now but a much greater one in the making.

The Buffs won the final game defeating the Springfield, Mo., Teachers yesterday, 55 to 53.

Farmers Called to Raise More Food

County Agent Upchurch Will Register Farmers of County for Production

Randall county farm leaders will start mobilization on the Food Front early in January when they execute War Production farm plan sheets for 1943 on each farm, states County Agent W. H. Upchurch. These plan sheets will be used to classify each farm as to the manpower needs and as a guide to determine Selective Service classifications also to classify each farm as to possible needs for farm machinery and other materials that are to be rationed. The farm registration will also be used as a blue print of the nation's food production for 1943 and will serve as a basis for food commitments to foreign countries.

The President has issued a proclamation designating January 12 as Farm Mobilization day. This means that the agricultural resources will be placed on the same basis as industry and our armed forces, in an effort to contribute everything possible to the country's war effort. Secretary of Agriculture, Claude Wickard, has said that "food will win the war and write the peace." The importance of food in the war effort was emphasized when the Secretary of Agriculture was made Food Administrator. Military leaders have agreed that food is a cheaper weapon than guns and planes. This was demonstrated in the African campaign. It is agreed that food as a weapon has already been the means of saving the lives of a great many of our boys. For that reason the food resources of the country are being given a place of more importance in the total mobilization for total war. Farmers are not the only people interested in food production. Every person is interested in our food production as much as in the production of tanks and guns.

The farm mobilization in the county will be under the general direction of the County USDA War Board. A definite part of the work is assigned to the AAA committeemen. The regular Triple A program for 1943 is designed to encourage the maximum food production of the foods most needed. Several changes have been made in order to bring this about. One of the most important adjustments is the elimination of the diverted acreage requirement. It is expected that every acre of crop land will be utilized, either in growing a crop for harvest or for pasture or in summer fallowing for another crop.

Farmers will be operating in 1943 under more handicaps than ever before. They will be short on labor and equipment. Many will be short on transportation. The Randall County USDA War Board solicits the cooperation of every citizen in understanding and helping to overcome these handicaps.

President J. A. Hill Reports on Trip to the Nation's Capitol

Seeks to Fit Program of West Texas State Into the War Program of the Nation

President J. A. Hill returned Thursday afternoon from Washington where he spent a week in representing West Texas State before the various war agencies. His report to the Rotary Club Tuesday is of interest to all citizens of Randall county.

"Washington realizes there is just one important thing in the nation today—winning the war," stated Dr. Hill. Officals are looking for and planning for a long war.

Regents of the Teachers College of Texas realized several months ago that higher education would be greatly handicapped by the war unless the colleges could get into some kind of war program. It is freely predicted that college attendance will be greatly reduced next year, some estimating the decline as great as 40%. Young men are being taken into the armed forces while young women are being induced to enter various kinds of war work.

Dr. Hill stated that Douglas Aircraft had announced that 60% of its employees were women. Many small, unendowed colleges have already been forced to close for the duration.

Dr. Hill gave many sidelights on his trip. He was fortunate in being able to get train accommodations, but found food prices and hotel accommodations very high. Taxi service is almost impossible in Washington.

About 5 out of 6 persons traveling were in uniforms, and Dr. Hill believed the average was one out of every three in Washington.

He talked to many soldiers in an attempt to get the viewpoint of men in service. He found that soldiers urged 18 year old boys to get into the army rather than try to stay in school, as these boys "need what the army has to give them."

Dr. Hill paid particular attention to the question of drinking among the men in uniform. He found only a few who seemed to be under the influence of liquor. Military Police has the situation well in hand, and the boys do not wish their record blemished by reports from the M. P. After his trip, Dr. Hill expressed pleasure with the way the army is

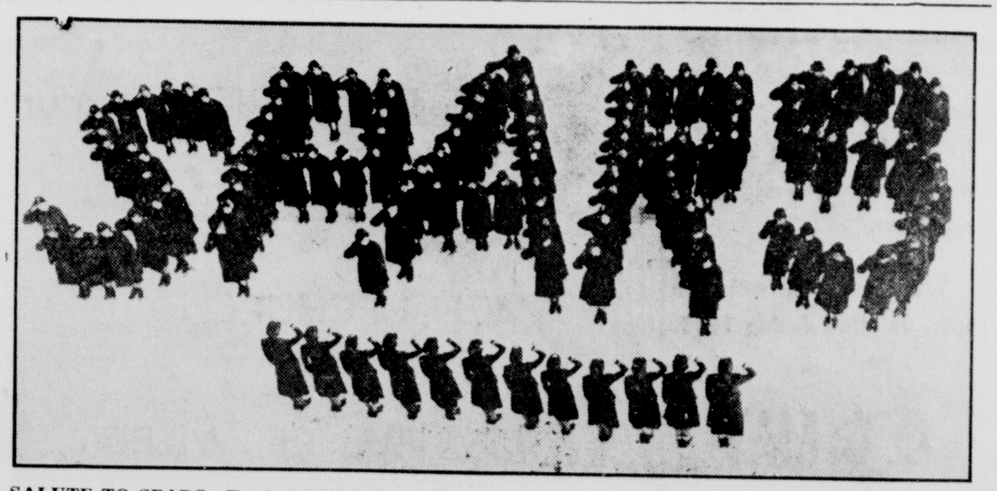
Saturday Is Last Day for the Holiday Special Subscriptions

Today is the last day of December. January 2nd brings to a close the annual bargain rates on daily newspapers. January 3 all subscribers will have to pay regular rates for their newspapers.

Many subscribers take it for granted that bargain days will be extended for a few days, as they have in the past. The newspapers say there will be no extension this year as all papers have been asked to reduce paper consumption 25% during 1943—and this may mean that late subscribers will not be able to get their subscriptions. We do not profess to know what is in the minds of the daily papers, but all who wish to make sure of reading material for the coming year should renew their subscriptions without fail.

The News will handle all subscriptions for you—newspapers and magazines alike. Do not overlook this opportunity to save money by advising with The Canyon News regarding your subscriptions.

Remember—Saturday is the final for Bargain Days—so get busy.



SALUTE TO SPARS—Twelve newly commissioned SPARS in foreground, officers in the new Coast Guard Women's Reserve, receive a novel tribute when more than 100 members of their sister organization, the WAVES, form to spell out the name of the new reserve. "I pledge allegiance to the Flag of the United States of America, and to the Republic for which it stands, one nation indivisible, with liberty and justice for all."

Thos. B. Love of Dallas helped write the Terrill Election Law more than 20 years ago. He has watched the operation of the law and has reached the conclusion that changes should be made in the law. Like all others who have to operate under the law, Mr. Love deplores the mounting cost to local candidates of our primary elections. It has reached the point that poor men and women cannot run for public office in the larger counties of Texas, which defeats the purpose of the primary system. Mr. Love proposes that the counties assume the cost of holding primary elections, which is the principal cost of primary elections. Mr. Love will propose to the legislature that this change will be made. The News hopes that Mr. Love will push this proposal before the Legislature which meets in January.

The New Year finds America in a much better condition than we were a year ago. Had our enemies only realized it, we were practically out of the war after the disaster of Pearl Harbor. During the past year the nation has suffered the greatest military defeats in the history of the nation. But we came through, and today the tide has changed. We are starting vast offensives, and are gaining in power every day. The military of America, both in fighting men and fighting machines, is gaining strength every hour, and is striking telling blows. While the battle is far from won, yet each day you may mark it down as an assured fact that we are just 24 hours nearer victory than we were yesterday.

It is not barbaric to say that the death of Darlan may have been of greater aid to the United Nations than for him to have lived. Darlan did a great service in turning over North Africa to the United Nations without bloodshed. But Darlan was held in suspicion by many of the United Nations, and was not acceptable to these Frenchmen who have fought Hitler from the start. Now that Darlan is dead—a martyr in the eyes of the French of North Africa—there is a real chance to unite France against the Axis.

It was announced Sunday that starting about February 1st most kinds of foods will be rationed. Americans are asked not to hoard food, and not to buy up a lot of foods they do not need. Judging from the past, all citizens will get all they need under the new rationing program. We shall not be able to waste food as we have in the past, but certainly there will be a sufficient supply to keep everyone going.

"The wheat outlook is the best I have ever seen at this time of the year," stated a farmer yesterday. 1943 starts with the most favorable outlook for the farmers, with the exception of the labor market. A number of farmers have announced that they will be forced to quit after the 1943 wheat crop is harvested.

During Christmas special attention was given to the peace program being evolved by the United Nations. It was pointed out time and again that if America had heeded the words of Woodrow Wilson in 1918-19, there would never have been a second World War. Yes, and if we had listened to Chas. Lindbergh and Burton K. Wheeler we would have been completely whipped before we got started in this war.

Warning was issued in November that all must mail their Christmas packages by December 1st if they expected delivery by Christmas. Thousands of people failed to heed the warning. It is now estimated by the postal department that Christmas boxes will be delivered as late as February 1st because of the great congestion caused by late mailing.

If reports out of Washington are reliable, the armed forces will be increased 3,500,000 during 1942. This means that every single man 18 to 38 will be in the armed service before many months, and a large percentage of the married men who are without children may expect a call into the army.

For the first time in history utilities advertised that they did not want business during the holidays. Both the railroads and telephones were overloaded, and simply could not take care of the business.

If you want to make a safe New Year resolution, here is one: "I will buy War Bonds regularly every pay day, and put all my surplus cash in War Bonds during 1943."

The 35-mile law has had one good result for Texas—700 less deaths during 1942 than during 1941.

THE LITTLE GUY

During the past year reports have come out of Washington which have greatly distressed small business concerns. It has been predicted at various times that 300,000 small business houses would be put out for the duration because there would be nothing to sell. Such reports did not make sense in the light of the history of this nation, founded upon individuality.

Now it is announced that all of the retail businesses would be kept in operation, with the big firms being forced to divide their stocks with the small firms. That is a relief to local men who have spent a lifetime building up an institution which would be of service to the community.

Just one year ago The News printed an editorial on "The Little Guy," which received considerable favor. In the light of the announcement from Washington, it is well to reprint this item, which follows:

What distinguishes this country from the other great nations of the world? There are many possible answers to that question. And here's one of the best: "The United States is the country where the little guy is boss—where the little guy can go as far as his energies and ambitions allow—where the little guy doesn't have to bow and scrape to anyone."

Little guys made this country. They came here from everywhere to establish freedom and escape tyranny. They landed in a wilderness. They were often cold and hungry. They seldom became rich. But they kept the faith. They built the homes and cleared the land and raised the children. They fought the wars of the past, just as they are fighting this war. The little guys were proud and strong and confident of the future, and the great land in which we live is their gift to us, the little guys of the present.

Little guys built the industries of this country. They saved a few dollars and put them into a store or a bank or a factory of some kind.

They took chances. Much of the time they lost, but that didn't dismay them. They saved a few more dollars and took new chances. They didn't laugh when some visionary came along with an idea the wiseacres said was obviously insane—the telephone, for instance, or the automobile, or a plan for lighting homes with electricity. There might be something in it, they thought, and they played the long shot. For the visionaries with the ideas were the same kind of people—little guys trying to get ahead, little guys trying to build and create. And some of them went from shacks to mansions in a year or two, and a year or two later were back in the shacks starting again. They always started again. It was in their blood, their bone, their character. The little guys didn't give up.

All of this country is a monument to the little guy. All of our industries, our farms, our homes, our resources—the little guys did the work. They went into the oil fields and brought out the black gold. They dug in the earth and gave us our coal and metals. A few became famous, but the millions remained unknown. They worked and died in obscurity, but this country is an everlasting monument to their deathless spirit which lives on.

That is the ideal we Americans must always keep in mind—America must be a place where the little guy is king. Where enterprise is the little guy's kind of enterprise—he can go into any business he wants, invest his savings in whatever he wants, and lick the competitors to a frazzle if he is able to. The government belongs to him—he doesn't belong to the government. The little guy made America, and today he is perpetuating America. And tomorrow he must be the symbol of America, too.

GOOD RESOLUTIONS—Little Jo Ann Siegman, 2, of New York, has decided already just what she'll resolve for 1943. "I'll eat healthy foods," she says, "and won't throw any of it away. I'll even eat my spinach." Because mommy says you shouldn't throw away tin cans, Jo Ann is going to help her save them for the salvage man. "I pledge allegiance to the flag, and I promise to help my country win the war," Jo Ann concludes.

Saying the wrong thing is misfortune; but trying to explain it is disaster.

If men had no faith in one another, all of us would have to live within our incomes.

KEEPS 'EM FLYING—Nora Lee Ellender, one of the nation's first women airplane mechanics, is stationed at the Lake Charles, La., Army Flying School. All over the country, women are being trained to step into jobs as mechanics, fabric and leather workers, parachute workers, welders, and radio technicians. They'll replace men in Army sub-depots.

Women now control 75 per cent of the nation's spending. Uncle Sam, of course, gets the other 25 per cent.

A hick town is a place where it's cheaper to feed your neighbor's chickens than to have a next-door enemy.

A psychiatrist says the unmarried are considerably more likely to go crazy. Go crazy and get married, eh, doc?

People who look back these days may not turn into a pillar of salt, but they may turn into a telephone pole.

Dolly: "We women endure pain much better than men."
Molly: "Who told you that? Your doctor?"
Dolly: "No; the shoe salesman."

AMERICA SALUTES

A New Year

ONE YEAR CLOSER TO VICTORY

Once every year our thoughts turn from the details of business and the sordid affairs of every day life and center themselves on matters of a spiritual and sentimental nature.

It is right that they should. It is the time of mental inventory when we take stock of what we have done and what we have been and the many friends we have made during the last year.

It has often been said there is no sentiment in business, but this statement is not true, for this New Year's Season refutes it.

We have always felt that our customers and the people with whom we have business are as much our friends as the people we meet socially, and we have always made an earnest endeavor to promote such feeling in our business relations.

We feel that way toward you and therefore take this opportunity to express our best wishes to you in this New Year's Season.

May Joy be with you and Prosperity follow you.

MAY YOU HAVE A PROSPEROUS NEW YEAR

TRUTH PAYS OFF

A crowd of German airmen arrived at the gate of heaven and clamored to get in.

"Who are you?" asked St. Peter.

"We're the fifty German airmen who were shot down today by the R. A. F.," was the reply.

Said St. Peter: "Wait a minute while I look at the DNB communique." After reading it he came back and announced: "It says here that only two German airmen were shot down today. So two of you can come in and the rest of you can go to hell."

HITLER'S WILL

The English are chuckling over a "Last Will and Testament" of Hitler. Here's a taste: "I give and bequeath all of my German people who believe in me to the Dumb People's League. I return my mustache to Charles Chaplin from whom I annexed it. On my death I proclaim the annexation of Hades, which I had tried to give to my German people."

Food Rationing

include almost 30 billion ration stamps—a figure which exceeds 12 years continuous production of all the postage stamps used in the United States.

The 96 blue stamps, which housewives soon will have to present to buy canned vegetables, food and soups, will each bear a numeral designating its points value and also a letter of the alphabet. These letters designate the ration period when stamps may be used.

For example, all blue stamps bearing the letters A and B; or A through F; or any other combination, might be designated for use during a specific period. Since each letter appears on stamps totalling 16 points—one 8, one 5, one 2, and one 1—the letters made valid in any period determine the number of points that may be spent to buy the rationed foods.

If only A and B were validated, only 32 points could be spent during the first ration period, while if stamps marked A through F were designated the holder would have 96 points to spend.

Each different commodity will have its own point value, fixed in relationship to the availability of the product. Canned cocoanut which might be plentiful, would have a point value of 2 points, for example, while canned carrots, which might be scarce, could have a point value of 8 points.

The point values will be changed from time to time to reflect the shifting supply situation. OPA officials said, however, it is not expected that it will be necessary to announce changes in point values more than once a month.

Point values will be identical in every store in the country and consumers may shop wherever they desire. Food stores will be required to display prominently an official OPA poster showing point values of the various kinds of rationed foods according to container size. As values are changed, new posters will be issued.

OPA stresses three important facts:

1. The total number of points that will be allotted to each civilian in canned foods rationing has not yet been determined; nor has the specific point value of any of the foods to be rationed.

2. Possession merely entitles you to buy your share; you may pay for rationed merchandise as usual in dollars and cents.

3. The housewife has complete freedom of choice. She can spend her points any way she wishes, although, of course, the items that are scarce will have a higher point value, and hence will use up her points faster.

The OPA explained that point rationing is considered the simplest practical way of distributing so diverse a group of commodities as canned foods.
